COMPANY PROFILE

Selby & Mills

One of Europe's leading firms of chartered occupational psychologists — an innovative test developer and publisher.

Selby & Mills are one of Europe's leading firms of chartered occupational psychologists and an innovative test developer and publisher. We provide assessment expertise and survey and assessment services used in the selection, development and counselling of staff at all stages of their careers, with online technology at the core of the process.

We specialise in original, highly practical, success-driven products which enable individuals and organisations to excel. Pioneers in the use of IT in this market, we apply it to make our products easy to use and easy to learn from. Our products are readily accessible to your managers and staff worldwide, yet can be controlled and administered from a single location.

EXPERTISE

What we bring.

1

Assessment & publishing

Decades of experience developing and publishing innovative assessment tools, with unrivalled consulting skills to meet your organisation's specific needs.

2

Inclusive by design

Questionnaires for those considering self-employment, for people without a formal educational record, and for contexts where equal-opportunities issues exist or the language barrier is substantial.

3

Assessment centres

A specialist in assessment centres, with tools to help evaluate all levels of staff — including corporate attitude surveys.

OUR APPROACH

Practical psychology, delivered online.

We combine chartered occupational psychology with technology that makes rigorous assessment easy to run — accessible to your people anywhere, controlled from one place.
